

South Nassau Recognizes Nurse Award Nominees

▲ In May at the Woodbury Country Club in Woodbury, the Nassau-Suffolk Hospital Council honored the nominees selected by Long Island hospitals for the council's Nurse of Excellence Award. South Nassau's nominee, Silvia Johns, R.N., of family medicine, center, poses with, from left, Sheila D'Nodal, M.D.; Yvette Mooney, R.N., senior vice president of patient care services; Scott Ippolito, M.D., chair of family medicine; and Althea Williams, administrative director of family medicine.

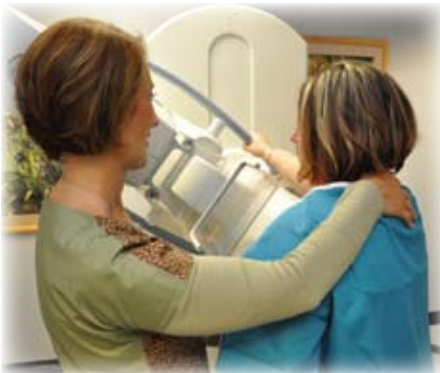

▲ On June 30, South Nassau recognized Silvia Johns, R.N., the hospital's nominee, with a reception in the conference center. A proclamation from Rockville Centre honored Ms. Johns with a certificate proclaiming June 30, 2009 "Silvia Johns Day" in the village. Pictured with the proclamation, she is flanked by Samuel Sandowski, M.D., director of the family practice residency program and director of graduate medical education; and Althea Williams, administrative director of family medicine.

▲ Also on that day, South Nassau honored Yvette Mooney, R.N., senior vice president of patient care services, who was a finalist in Nursing Spectrum's Nurse of Excellence Awards. Ms. Mooney, with flowers, poses with Eileen Mahler, R.N., director of nursing, left, and Elizabeth Muller, R.N., assistant vice president of patient care services.

South Nassau's Complete Women's Imaging is a Center of Excellence

The Center for Women's Imaging has been designated a Breast Imaging Center of Excellence by the American College of Radiology.

The American College of Radiology's designation recognizes facilities that have earned accreditation in all of the college's voluntary breast-imaging accreditation programs in addition to the mandatory mammography accreditation program. The designation also means that the facility has achieved high practice standards in image quality, personnel qualifications, facility equipment, quality control procedures and quality assurance programs.

For more information about Complete Women's Imaging or to schedule an appointment, call (516) 255-8220.